Dear Parents and Carers

Evening Lecture on The Brain for Parents/Carers and Staff Tuesday 5 July at 7.00pm in the Conference Centre

In order to complement the A Level Biology and Psychology courses at Parmiter's, we have arranged for Dr Guy Sutton of Nottingham University to host an interactive study day for A Level students on the topic of the brain. Dr Sutton has also kindly offered to present some of his findings and knowledge to parents/carers and staff of Parmiter's in an evening lecture.

In his professional capacity, Dr Sutton works with medical students at various universities and closely with the police and legal professionals to advise and to educate. He is, in his words, a 'brain enthusiast' and always gives exciting and interesting presentations.

The evening lecture will last about an hour and will be on the topic of 'The past and future of the brain'. It will be open to staff, parents/carers and students of Parmiter's who are interested in this topic. The content would be most suitable for Year 10 and older students.

Dr Sutton is offering the lecture free of charge, but we do need to know numbers so we can ensure adequate seating. If you would like to attend this lecture, please complete this form with the number of seats you require by Friday 10 June.

As this is the examination period at school, the Conference Centre is set up with chairs and desks which we need to leave in place. Please be assured that you will not be expected to take an examination after the lecture!

If you have any questions about the event, please email s.renton@parmiters.herts.sch.uk.

Yours sincerely
